

Resources for Assaults or Harassment

When consulting campus resources, all parties should be aware of confidentiality, privacy, and mandatory reporting in order to make informed choices. Most college employees are required to report concerns to the Title IX Coordinator; however, persons acting in their official College position as Campus Ministers, Campus Counselors, and Campus Medical, personnel including Campus Nurses, may keep disclosure information confidential. This ability for confidentiality only exists when the conversation or information is disclosed to the employee in a confidential setting in the course of the official discharge of their position. Confidentiality does not exist should the disclosure occur in a public setting or a setting or situation that does not conform to the employment description of their position.
