

Posting Date: February 2022

Position: Assistant Professor – Psychology

Department: School of Arts and Sciences

Hours per Week: Full-time

Founded in 1887, Alverno College is a four-year, Catholic liberal arts college for undergraduate women sponsored by the School Sisters of St. Francis. The college also offers a robust array of graduate and degree completion programs for women and men. Student learning and personal and professional development are the central focus of everyone in the Alverno College community. As Wisconsin's first designated Hispanic-Serving Institution, Alverno enrolls a highly diverse student body of virtually every demographic and experience. It is an institution that has revered tradition and encouraged innovation for more than 130 years.

The Department of Psychology seeks applicants for a full-time, ten-month faculty position as an Assistant Professor beginning in the 2022-2023 academic year. This appointment is an exempt position and will be administered through an initial rolling contract (two-year probationary) with renewal under a standard rolling contract every three years after the probationary period. A rolling contract may, with appropriate approval, be converted to a tenure track position if eligible and approved by the Chief Academic Officer. Hiring is contingent on funding. Salary and academic rank will be commensurate with qualifications, education, and experience. Alverno College health, disability, and retirement plan enrollment is available to full time employees and eligible dependents. Tuition benefits are available for employees and qualified dependents.

Primary Duties and Responsibilities

The following information is not meant to be all-inclusive. Other duties and responsibilities may be assigned as necessary.

All Psychology faculty at Alverno College collaborate in curriculum development, teaching, learning and assessment, and program evaluation within Psychology and the curriculum at large. Primary duties and responsibilities include:

- Teach a range of courses in our undergraduate Psychology program. A successful candidate must be able to teach one or more courses in our methods sequence, such as Research Methods, Statistics, or Experimental Psychology. Candidates are likely to be asked to teach one or more courses in Developmental, Cognitive, Social, Physiological, and/or Abnormal Psychology. Load is 12 credits per semester, which typically equates to 3 4-credit courses per semester.
- Serve and collaborate in departmental and cross-departmental committees.
- Engage in scholarship activities related to teaching practice.
- Engage with current and prospective students through activities such as individual advising, connection with student groups, and attendance at college-sponsored events.

Successful candidates should highlight any specific experiences and expertise related to supporting a diverse and inclusive educational community. Willingness to contribute to the College's strategic plan of inclusion is essential.

Qualifications and Education

- Ph.D. in Psychology or Psy.D.; ABD will be considered if degree will be completed before September 2022.
